- 1.2 Where the provisions of Article 18quater of the RSTP conflict with the current statutory provisions applicable in Wales, those provisions which are more favourable to the Player will apply.
- 1.3 The provisions of this document only apply to Players employed under a contract of employment and registered as a Professional Player in accordance with the registration provisions contained in the FAW Rules.

2. Contractual Provisions

- 2.1 The validity of any contract of employment may not be made subject to a Player becoming or being pregnant, being on maternity leave or the Player exercising her rights in accordance with this document or in accordance with her rights under any applicable UK statutory provisions.
- 2.2 Any employer that seeks to include provisions that affect the validity of a contract where a player becomes or is pregnant, takes maternity leave or exercises any of her rights in accordance with this document or any applicable UK statutory provision will be in breach of FAW Rules and will be liable to sanctions as referred to in Section e of the FAW Rules.

3. Entitlement to maternity leave

Players will be entitled to up to 52 weeks' maternity leave, consisting of 26 weeks' ordinary maternity leave (OML) and 26 weeks' additional maternity leave (AML) with a minimum period of 14 weeks paid maternity leave in accordance with Article 18quater of the RSTP (see clause 8 below).

4. Notification

- 4.1 Players should inform their employer as soon as possible that they are pregnant. This is important as there may be health and safety considerations.

This provision of UK law is to protect both the female employee and the unborn baby from harm occurring in having to continue to attend work when they are suffering from a pregnancy-related illness.

4.4 Your employer will be obliged to write to the Player within 28 days stating the date that the Player will be expected to return to work if the Player indicates that they will take their full maternity leave entitlement (Expected Return Date).
